Research continues to validate that organizations invested in structured and consistent onboarding programs have employees who are significantly more engaged. Employees who are more engaged, deliver quicker to the organization’s bottom line. Our onboarding solutions have always targeted the engagement link to onboarding and yet we are always striving to go to the next level. We listen to our clients as we continue to refine our onboarding solutions and clients told us that they want:

- A streamlined, straight-forward tool to support the onboarding experience for new hires & internal promotions.
- A consistent process that can be customized based on the business unit, the function, and the individual.
- A system that provides each person with a role in the onboarding process (i.e. HR partners, Hiring Managers and New Associates) a tool to help them manage their points of involvement.

So, the latest version of Building Connections® was created to meet these needs.

Highlights of the new release include:
